BANKERS WANT REVISION

Say Rates Must Be Reduced
if America Expects Euro-

Washington, D. C.—The biggest issue facing the administration of President Coolidge, corroborated by his trip west and confirmed by the many conferences in the east between bankers, merchants and Republican leaders, is the tariff.

But it is not a partisan issue. That's the new phase of the oldest of American problems. It has divided the Republican leadership itself, for some of the staunchest supporters of President Coolidge, men who have in the past been high protectionists, now are arguing that unless the tariff will be lowered to a certain extent, the economic prosperity of the country in the next few years will suffer.

The chasm in the ranks of Republicanism has been developing ever since the investment bankers began to make heavy loans to Europe, ever since in fact the details of the Dawes plan became known and the European countries began to argue for a lower tariff wall in order that they might pay their war debts in goods.

HEED ENGLISHMAN

Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, contributed a few thoughts on the subject in public recently which were taken to heart by the Republicans, and it now has become apparent that many bankers want the tariff reduced so as to accomplish a better trade relation ship with Europe and to assist thus in the ultimate payment by Europe of its debts. The discussion between bankers and Republican leaders, particularly influential members of the senate, have been in progress for some time. It was hardly noticed at the time that Senator William M. Butler, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee, issued a warning to the bankers that the tariff would not be reduced, but nevertheless the speech was part of the movement to combat the tariff agitation.

AFRAID OF LABOR

Before long there may be other utterances from the Republican wing which argues that while there may be some merit in a revision of certain schedules of the tariff, it would be unwise to tinker with the tariff before a congressional election, for if there developed a deflation in wages, the resentment of the labor vote might cause the loss of the two houses of congress.

Now after the western trip taken by Mr. Coolidge it has become evident that another line of attack on the tariff is being organized in the west and that farm committees which in the old days shouted loudest for the tariff are today clamoring for relief against the high cost of the articles they purchase and the ineffectiveness of the tariff in protecting them by keeping the price of wheat high.

If, therefore, there should be a revival of the old tariff revolt which began in Iowa in the days of Doolittle and which led to the insurgent movement of 1912, the custodians of the Republican party's fortunes will not have as before a solid eastern front but will find themselves weakened in the very strongholds of protection.

SPOTLIGHT TURNED ON
THAW AT FOLLIES SHOW

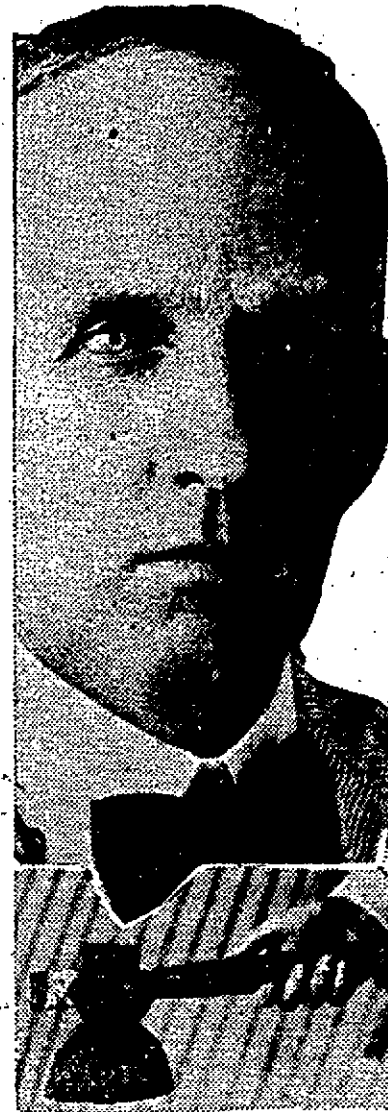

By Associated Press
New York—Harry K. Thaw is out with a protest against stories of his visits to New York cabarets. In a statement to the press he says that when he has been introduced to various people he has considered it good policy not to be rude but to accept the courtesies.

"This gentleman's conduct on my part ought not to be the basis of a lot of stories made out of sheer imagination to create a sensation," he adds. As to stories of lavish entertainments, he says that he is often the victim of press agents.

At the Follies Thursday night Will Rogers roped Tris Speaker, pulled him on the stage and said, "Tris, without any desire to harm anyone, I want to present to you, Mr. Harry K. Thaw."

The spotlight was turned on Thaw, and he arose, smiled and bowed.

Fifty University of Wisconsin
Students Admit They Re-

By Associated Press
Madison—Steps to be taken against University of Wisconsin students who saw examination questions before writing their examinations were under consideration Friday. Prof. C. D. Zdzieniewicz, head of the Romance language department, said. More than 50 students were reported to have admitted to university officials that they had purchased or been given copies of questions for courses in the department.

Names of two students, alleged to have been involved in the theft and disposal of the questions, were reported to have been given to Dean Scott H. Goodnight.

Three proposed steps are under consideration. Prof. Zdzieniewicz said. They contemplate a new examination for French and Spanish classes, a new examination to students who admit having seen the questions before their quizzes or expulsion of students who purchased the questions, with fines in grade points for those who saw the questions, but did not buy them.

Iowa Man Opens Fire When He Is Discovered, but Is Shot Through Heart

By Associated Press
Wisconsin Rapids—A man believed to be Carl H. Brooks of Knoxville, Ia., was shot and killed early Friday morning in an interchange of shots with Thomas Foley of the local police force who discovered him loitering at the rear of the Kleberg grocery store here.

The supposed burglar fired as he was discovered, and Foley suffered a flesh wound in the leg before the latter sent a bullet through the man's heart.

There were no marks of identification on the dead man but he was recognized as the same man who was picked up on suspicion by police, following an attempted burglary several days ago. At that time he gave his name as Carl P. Brooks of Knoxville, Ia.

On the body were found a key of tools presumably taken in the robbery of the Louis Jensen garage Wednesday night. About $65 in cash thought to have been part of $170 stolen from the garage was found on the dead man.

An inquest was to be held Friday afternoon. In the meantime authorities are making an effort to establish the identity of the alleged burglar, who is thought to have perpetrated a string of robberies here and other cities in Wisconsin.

Asked To Extradite Senate
Clerk, Scandal Board Told

Madison—Certified copy of the records in connection with the application of Governor N. E. Kendall of Iowa to Governor Blaine for return of F. W. Schoenfeld, now chief clerk of the Wisconsin state senate, under extradition proceedings was transmitted Friday to Chairman William F. Quick of the special senatorial committee investigating charges of irregularities in state service. The copy was submitted by Frank W. Kuehl, executive secretary, by direction of Governor Blaine.

The application for extradition was denied May 17, 1924, on the grounds that the prosecution was delayed apparently without reason, it being charged the offense was committed on June 13, 1921, that Schoenfeld was not a fugitive from justice and that it was not shown on offense was probably committed. Schoenfeld was charged with selling a stock certificate without authority.

Following two hours of examination in which he defended the civil service commission and its methods of examining applicants for state positions, Senator Alva E. Garey, Secretary, closed his testimony late Thursday before the investigation committee, with a statement in which he denounced several persons for attempting to discredit the state administration.

In this connection the senator mentioned Stephen Bolles, editor of the Sevenson, Iowa, who offered a resolution seeking an investigation of reports of misconduct in state affairs but which was supplanted by the Garey resolution. George A. Clark, a former senate policeman, and Dr. E. T. Ridgeway, Elkhorn, a former witness declared, entered into a plot, for political reasons, to give prominence of former Senator Barney Moran from senate chamber in the 1923 legislative session, while tax matters were being considered, and use the information in the ensuing gubernatorial campaign.

"It was significant," Senator Garey said, "that this information was never used."

The Smith-Ekern senatorial investigation committee was prepared Friday to complete its inquiry into the differences between Attorney General Herman L. Ekern and W. Stanley Smith, insurance commissioner. The hearings would be concluded Friday afternoon, chairman Sauthoff announced, the committee having decided that all phases of the controversy were covered. Ralph W. Jackman, counsel for Smith, will close his cross examination of Ekern and the committee will be then ready to draft its report.

Ekern was taken over much of the ground already covered under Jackman's questioning Thursday. He took occasion to correct a former statement about other attorneys' general who had retained their private practice while holding public office. Governor Blaine had severed his law firm connections when he became attorney general, Ekern said he was informed.

F. F. Flenz of Neenah, accompanied by William Flenz and Mrs. Archie Parker of Menasha, in a Ford touring car, hit the car of Russell Peterson, 310 N. Oneida-st at 10:20 Thursday night. Peterson's car was parked near the intersection of Prospect and Rogers-aves, headed south. The Ford also was headed south, and Flenz, charged with being under the influence of alcohol, was unable to steer clear although the Peterson car was stationary.

Peterson's car had both left fenders bent, while the right front wheel of Flenz's car was broken and the front end of the car badly smashed, so that it had to be hauled away. Flenz was arrested by Capt. P. J. Vaughn and Officer Carl Radtke.

Flenz's case was adjourned until 9 o'clock Saturday, June 20, when he appeared in municipal court Friday morning.

State Decides to Go into
Bonding Business, Governor Vetoes 4 Bills

By Associated Press

Madison—The Padway bill requiring automobile owners to take out liability insurance with the state at the same time they apply for a motor vehicle license failed to reach third reading stage in the senate Thursday night. After a strenuous fight for the bill led by its author, Senator Jos. A. Padway, Milwaukee, the measure was killed, 14 to 9.

Sensor Oscar H. Morris, Milwaukee, brought on the attack which defeated the bill. Senator Padway attempted to obtain the adoption of a substitute, but the senate rejected it. The substitute contained the proposal that insurance must be taken with the state at the time license is obtained. The original bill provided merely for obtaining insurance from any source and payment of its benefits to injured persons.

The proposal for the state to enter the insurance business finds a counterpart in the Price bill which passed the senate Thursday and now goes to the governor. This bill proposes that the state go into the bonding business and guarantee its own deposits resting in the various state banks.

By a vote of 15 to 13 the senate definitely postponed the Severson tax bill which would have provided a reduction of approximately $25,000,000 in property taxes. The bill contained a penalty clause providing for punishment of assessing officers who over-assess property. Senators Severson and Titus spoke for the bill and Senator Garey, administration floor leader, against it.

Governor Blaine Friday vetoed four more measures, including the senate bill permitting the railroad commission to authorize substitution of busses for regular equipment on street railway or interurban lines. "The bill would turn street railway and interurban companies over to bus companies and permit them to operate busses in place of street cars, the governor said, "without the legislature having first laid down a policy concerning bus transportation in municipalities." It also would make bus transportation a monopoly, he added.

AGAINST HOME RULE
The other bills were two from the assembly authorizing cities to establish automobile light testing stations and repealing a provision of the police pension law and the senate measure making all cities subject to the plumbing license law.

The executive objected to the first bill as he stated in vetoing a similar measure two years ago because if a municipality failed to heed the order of a policeman to have his automobile lights tested regardless of whether they needed testing, he could be fined. He characterized it as a proposal to establish a policy that a policeman's order is law and to establish a special system.

South America Helps To Swell U. S. Export Trade

Washington—The steadily increasing growth of export trade by the United States can be attributed to four salient developments in foreign trade, John Moody, president of Moody's Investors service of New York, declared in an address Thursday before the World Trade dinner of the National Association of Credit Men in convention here.

Mr. Moody enumerated these developments: "First, the return of our foreign commerce to the basis of national resources; second, the rehabilitation of Europe; third, the dawn of a new era for the backward nations of South America, Africa and Asia, and finally, the reorientation of competition and culture throughout the world."

Declaring the United States has an advantage over all other producers because of its wealth of natural resources and talents, Mr. Moody said this country could produce and sell the world's industrial machinery in competition with any nation in the world.

Although most countries of Europe excel in the production of some specific product, in which the United States could not compete, Mr. Moody pointed out that this country has a "secure market for those articles and products in which we possess natural advantages."

By Associated Press

Milwaukee—August Budisz, veteran fisherman, his son Raymond, 18, and Barney Kuchnowski, 17, members of the crew of the fishing launch Mayflower were drowned in Lake Michigan near here Thursday, when they took to the water after their craft caught fire.

The hull of the Mayflower, burned to the waterline, was discovered late Thursday afternoon by John Miller, stepfather of Kuchnowski, who is a member of the crew of the fishing tug Alice.

The Alice cruised about the burned hull for some time, and with the supply of fuel running low, returned to this port and two other tugs joined in the search when it was renewed.

Early Friday, the fishermen and constables announced that it was very probable that the men were unable to fit their life preservers before they took to the water.

The Alice saw the craft when it was still blazing, and declared that the launch must have caught fire about 10 a. m. The members of the Mayflower crew were all good swimmers and it is the opinion of lake men that the fire started from an explosion and the men had no time to reach the life preservers, but were forced to the lake, when the gasoline tank exploded.

Chicago, Ill.—Robert White, long missing witness in the Shepherd trial unexpectedly walked into the court room Friday morning and reported to Joseph Savage, assistant state's attorney.

"I am Mr. Savage," said White while he was rushed to the office of the state's attorney. He led his wife and two children as he appeared in the court room.

"I am here to fight this thing to a finish; there is more to it than you know," Savage said White had stated, as the doors were closed and a conference began.

ATTACKS WITNESS

Chicago—Utterances imputed to Alexander Reichmann, co-guardian with Mrs. Julie Shepherd of William Nelson McClintock for whose alleged murder William Darling Shepherd is on trial, were brought into the open Friday when Reichmann was so bitterly assailed upon cross-examination by William Scott Stewart, chief of defense counsel, that four times he begged Judge Thomas J. Lynch for "protection from these insinuations."

Reichmann was the second witness of the trial which got under way Thursday.

Stewart indirectly accused Reichmann of having profited from his attorneyship of the McClintock $1,000,000 which was willed virtually to Shepherd by young McClintock shortly before he died of typhoid Dec. 4, a death Shepherd is accused of having caused by administering typhoid germs.

"How much did you have with you when you came here from Iowa?" asked Stewart and when Robert E. Crowe, the state's attorney objected, Stewart told Judge Lynch that he wanted to show "where this man came from, he didn't have a dime and he got rich after he began handling the McClintock estate."

Mr. Crowe insisted Reichmann was one of the leaders of the Chicago bar and his affluence was a legitimate spoil of his ability as an attorney. Reichmann begged the court's protection when Stewart made a sarcastic reference to the admitted fact that he had not liked him.

Again when Stewart sought to "prove by the witness himself that Reichmann in the noted King case had an interested party sent to jail in an effort to break the will."

The argument became so heated that Prosecutor Crowe angrily demanded of Judge Lynch that Stewart be restrained from the practices of a shyster lawyer.

Previously, Crowe had referred to the defense attorney as an attorney who had become opulent from sharp practices.

Concluding his direct examination, Reichmann testified that as counsel for Mrs. Emma McClintock after the death of her husband, who he had served in the same capacity he had drawn up the will under which the estate was transferred to the child.

NEW LONDON CATHOLIC CHURCH BURNS TO GROUND

LIGHTNING HITS STEEPLE DURING STORM IN NIGHT

Firemen Are Handicapped
When Streams Fail to Reach Burning Tower.

Most Precious Blood Catholic church of New London burned to the ground early Friday morning when the steeple was struck by lightning at about 2 o'clock. The Hortonville fire department was called about 3 o'clock but was unable to render aid. Nothing in the church was saved except the new tabernacle which was installed a short time ago, and the blessed sacrament, which was saved by the Rev. Otto Kolbe, pastor of the church. The church was built in 1890 and was insured for $51,000, which is about one-third of what it would cost to build a similar church at the present time.

Masses in the future will be held in Knights of Columbus hall at New London, until a new church has been erected, for which no plans are being made as yet.

The same bolt of lightning which struck the church steeple put telephones and lights out of commission in the city, and it will be some time before they can be put in working condition.

The fire got beyond control when the local fire department was unable to obtain enough water pressure to reach the tower, where the flames started and were the worst. The motor pump was not working effectively, it appeared, and this proved a handicap in holding the fire to the spot of its origin. The men did excellent work under the circumstances, however.

EXTRADITE MAN ACCUSED BY GIRL

William Schlender of Kaukauna Will Be Arrested on Statutory Charge

Sheriff P. G. Schwartz left Madison at 12:30 Thursday for Minneapolis with extradition papers for William Schlender of Kaukauna, wanted on a statutory charge. Schlender, it is alleged, is the father of a 2-year-old child whose unmarried mother he deserted after promising to marry her before the birth of her child.

The recent ruling of the attorney general that the father of a child who deserts the mother without marrying her may be returned from Minnesota to Wisconsin on requisition from the governor of Wisconsin makes his return here possible, and upon notice of this decision J. A. Jonsdorf, district attorney of Outagamie-co., immediately put the proper wheels in motion.

Sheriff Schwartz is expected back here with his prisoner within the week, and the case probably will come up for hearing Monday or Tuesday.

APPLETON VETS GO TO TOMAHAWK CAMP OPENING

Merkel Has Prepared for Big Festivities at North Lakes Sunday

Quite a number of members of Oney Johnston post of the American legion are expected to go by automobile to Tomahawk Lake Sunday to attend the dedication of the Wisconsin department's new rehabilitation camp there. L. Hugo Keller of this city, state commander, and several other officials, already are there making the preparations.

No legionnaires will be admitted to the camp for a stay until the policies have been determined. Those who attend the festivities Sunday are asked to bring basket lunches, as it is impossible to provide for 500 or more expected there, those in charge have announced.

The state department of the American legion, which will formally assume control of the camp on that day, has prepared under the supervision of George F. Merkel, camp director, an elaborate program, including speeches, band concerts and an Indian pageant.

Mr. Merkel, former deputy health officer of Appleton, already has established his headquarters at the camp. He says that the 12 sleeping cabins have been fully equipped and that they are ready to be occupied.

The rehabilitation center, which was known as Camp Minne-wawa, an exclusive girls' camp when it was purchased, is nestled in the north central section of Wisconsin's lake fairland, sixteen and one-half miles north of Rhinelander in Oneida-co.

"The purpose of this veritable paradise," said the director, "is to span the gap between hospitalization of disabled veterans of the World war and their actual rehabilitation before going out in the world to earn their own living once again."

Roots and Herbs Used in Medicine

The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is recognized as the greatest user of roots and herbs in the world. Over half a million pounds are used annually in manufacturing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These herbs are gathered with the greatest care of the season of the year when the medicinal elements which they contain are at their best. This, in part, accounts for the wonderful efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in restoring ailing women to health and strength.

The camp is located on the state forest reserve. The surrounding country is dotted with beautiful lakes, on whose shores are huge tracts of wild and virgin timber.

The camp buildings are located on a well drained ridge between Tomahawk lake and Big Carr lake. The administration building, a massive log structure, is built from large pines and hemlock timbers cut from the surrounding forest. The building contains a dining room, recreation hall with a seating capacity of 400, a kitchen and serving room. An ice house and store room are adjacent. The building has its own lighting plant, and is heated by a modern hot water system.

The camp has numerous playgrounds. The largest, located in a ravine near the main hall, has been cleared to compare favorably with a city park. Large shade trees surround it, and at one end is a first class tennis court. Baseball diamonds feature the other playgrounds. One has been especially graded to be used for setting up exercises. Apparatus and equipment for most outdoor sports have been provided.

Water sports will be divided between Tomahawk and Big Carr lakes. The latter has a diving pier extending 60 feet into it, while the former has facilities for canoeing and sail boating.

Application for admittance to the camp is made through hospital officials where treatment has been given the disabled soldiers, or by letter to the state legion headquarters.

MEN OF VISION NEEDED, FORD TELLS STUDENTS

Eighty-four Are Graduated at Exercises of Vocational School

Three big qualities are needed in every person's life in order that he be successful, according to W. S. Ford, former director of Appleton vocational school, who was the principal speaker at the 1925 commencement exercises of the school Thursday evening. Eighty-four boys and girls graduated.

The three needed qualities are courage, will-power and emotional stability, Mr. Ford said. In order to have the fine things the people of the earth now enjoy some men had to have these qualities. Men of vision contributed the necessities and comforts of life to the world, Mr. Ford declared. He told of his experiences in the east and his trip to Niagara Falls. The men who harnessed its waters to serve fellow men had the courage to go on and the vision to see things, he said. Subways and other similar things were made possible for the same reason. A vision to see ahead is needed, Mr. Ford concluded.

Glen McIlroy, a member of the school faculty, entertained with a vocal selection, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. McIlroy, and the program was concluded with the presentation of graduation certificates by H. F. Heilig, director of the school.

Honor graduates were: Madeline Albrecht, Helen Bauman, Barnetta Dorn, Caroline Flecher, Violet Grunst, Ida Henkel, Anna Jahnke, Ellen Melonite, Josephine Moechel, Margaret Plette, Cecelia Quella, Elsie Sommer, Agnes Theisen, Norma Tornow, Helen Voisen, Florence Karls, Anita Jonas, Marie Ganzen, Esther Diener, Leona Erti, Edith Parker, Lorraine Foster, Cecelia Smith, Norman Belling, Robert Bruce, Leo Courtos, Joseph De Bruin, Peter De Munch, John Elckman, Frank Frye, Cyril Goffin, Roger Harmon, Louis Horn, Paul Kobal, Cornelius Lehrer, Jerome Linskens, Gregory Mollen, Samuel Nau, Raymond Olm, Henry Plette, George Stadler, Joseph Van den Burgt, Joseph Van Handel, Jake Van Noulund, Alvin Weiland, Norbert Rank, Leo Feavel, Roy Desten.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

THE modern housewife has many conveniences at her service that lessen considerably the actual work of keeping house. Vacuum cleaners and electric washing machines all play an important part in lessening the actual work she has to do, and are a sign of good housekeeping.

But the telephone is one of the greatest conveniences that the modern housewife has.

If the modern housewife wants to order the day's groceries she has only to use the phone. It may be blocks to her favorite grocer's, and it is only a step to the phone.

In the future all shopping for groceries will be done over the phone. It saves time, and eliminates the long trip to the grocery store. It does away with waiting in line, and after shopping by phone the housewife is just as fresh as she was before shopping — there are no bulky bundles to carry home. THE PROPOSED SECURITY TREATY

Premier Baldwin announces that while no security treaty has been concluded with France, the two governments are in accord on the basic steps to which a settlement will conform, and in which there is every reason to expect Belgium and Italy will participate. This means that they are united in the policy which is to be adopted in the negotiations advanced by Germany for the adoption of a general security pact.

It appears that Great Britain is prepared to abandon her policy of isolation and become virtually a member of a four or five power alliance to preserve the peace of Europe.

It is significant that Mr. Baldwin states that the contemplated will be "strictly of a bi-lateral character and not one-sided," as possibly has been inferred from some reports that have appeared. This, we take it, infers that the understanding which Great Britain is supporting is essentially a peace undertaking; that it binds both Germany and France to keep the peace as between themselves and to abide by certain frontiers and certain definite terms. Germany is not to attack France, and France is not to attack Germany. They are to agree to live in harmony, so far as frontiers are concerned, and Great Britain will not countenance by either a breach of this trust. If Germany is required to come into the League of Nations, as it logically should, the security treaty will be in conformance with the purposes of the League and will protect German interests quite as much as French interests. In fact, the pact will make the League the guardian of peace.

So far as the eastern frontiers are concerned, we take it Germany is to abide by plebiscites and the wishes of the peoples of the states in that portion of Europe. Force is not to be used to unsettle what has already been fixed, and on the other hand, extension of Germany's territory is not to be prohibited where it is agreeable to those minor states which are concerned.

There is only one way in which permanent peace can be obtained in Europe, and that is through a final adjustment and settlement to which the powers, or rather their peoples, can subscribe on the basis of justice. No force, actual or potential, can bind any nation to a condition which is oppressive and manifestly servile. The legitimate rights of each nation, taking into account, of course, the fair penalties of the war, must receive due consideration. At the same time, all must be confined to their respective spheres and the road closed by every practical means to militaristic designs or aspirations. The common sense thing for Europe to do is to make an arrangement of this character, reduce its militaristic establishments and consent to live in harmony. It is possible that a security treaty between the allies and Germany may achieve this end. If it does it will be the greatest contribution toward international peace yet realized.

PREHISTORIC APARTMENTS

A New York scientist, representing the Museum of Natural History, makes another archeological discovery in Arizona. It is a ruined group of great apartment houses near Roosevelt Lake. Some of them are built of adobe, which suffices for that dry climate. It is surprising to learn of one "communal house" of 100 rooms

ACROPHOBIA

A man who earns 45 cents an hour and has a family to support, says that if he could only overcome his dread of high places he might earn $7 cents an hour and have 10 hours instead of eight hours work daily. Think of what the difference in pay would mean for his family, he says. But his acrophobia (fear of a height) literally keeps him down. If he climbs above 10 feet on a scaffold or other structure a trembling comes upon him and he breaks into a cold sweat lest he fall. He wonders whether some exercise or other remedy might help him to overcome this dread.

This abnormal or excessive dread of a height is a common one and for really great heights it is instinctive in every one. Structural steel workers who do their dread stuff on skyscrapers and bridges have to learn by practice and determination to be at ease far aloft. Almost any of us might walk without fear across a four inch beam close to the ground. The beam is just as wide two hundred feet above the ground. The difficulty is to keep one's eyes and attention on the things nearby and off the things far below. These structural workers have learned to ignore the acant space around them and disregard the yawning chasm below them.

Some intellectual acrophobias can scarcely mount a few steps above the ground level without suffering with dread. They have made the mistake of being governed by their fears instead of using discipline to master the fears.

If some individuals can by discipline, practice and by determination conquer the fear of great heights which we all have more or less, there is no reason why persons with acrophobia should not lessen their timidity by similar means. That is to say, by day work or adventure at gradually increasing heights, even though it be necessary to begin only an inch above the ground. It is by an analogous gradually increasing dose of exercise such as walking or hill climbing that the heart muscle, weakened by disease, is developed and in effect a cure obtained in some cases of heart disease.

In a good many cases of acrophobia a defective muscular development is a definite factor, and this is usually the result of mere neglect of education. If the physical education has been neglected, the victim of the phobia ought to do what he or she can to remedy the defect. That is to say, by a systematic daily exercise should be adopted and followed out faithfully for many months. The Second Brady symphony may be used, and I should recommend by way of introduction and finale for the daily rendition of the symphony a half dozen rolls. The rolls or somersaults help to break up dignity and dignity is a very bad habit for people who harbor phobias.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A year or more ago I noticed in your column a positive statement to the effect that the shape or size of one's nose could not be altered by any appliance. I thought you were a little too positive about that. I have a regular poll parrot crook in my nose, and I bought a mechanical shaper and wore it faithfully as instructed by the inventor of it, and I am now convinced that the appliance is a humbug and the inventor a fake. I am ready now to look into the proposition of having an operation on my nose. Let me have complete particulars about that. (R. F.)

Answer.—The "inventor" trimmed the dupe, not the nose. Anyway, you still have the crook in your nose, though the crook got away with your easy money. Why not try to recover at least the proportion of the spoils which the agent earned by recommending the crook to you? I have no particulars to give you. Consult a surgeon about operation on your nose.

How can one have fresh air in a bed room without a draft? (B. D. S.)

Answer.—It is impossible. But why worry your head over such a thing? Open a window or two and let a good draft blow through. That's fresh air. It is harmless.

Popcorn.

How much nourishment is there in popcorn popped? (N. R.)

Answer.—About the same as one gets in the same weight of corn meal or canned corn.

BADGERS 14TH IN CONTEST FOR EXPORT TRADE

This State's Shipping Amounted to $89,290,895 U. S. Reports Reveal

Wisconsin ended the yearly race of states seeking foreign markets in fourteenth position, with diversified exports amounting to $89,290,895, consisting principally of pork, wheat, grain, rye and machinery, the United States department of commerce reports.

Washington obtained thirteenth position with an export trade valued at $98,930,069, while Georgia was runner-up in the fifteenth place with shipments amounting to $84,963,380. The total export trade of the United States for 1924 had a valuation of $4,498,161,962.

Exports of wheat, at $15,629,007; rye amounting to $12,268,182; pork valued at $10,653,662; machinery, except agricultural, with valuations of $10,262,944, and agricultural machinery and implements, amounting to $5,792,067, furnished the largest block of aid in assailing Wisconsin's prestige among the list of states marketing domestic goods abroad. Other items on the classified list of importance were leather, amounting to $6,029,145; barley, $2,088,957; chickens, $5,844,118; feed, $3,439,937; evaporated milk, $3,647,924; silk hosiery, $1,889,981.

Exports amounting to more than $100,000,000 for the year were attained in 11 states of the 52 states and regions included in the tabulation. They were, with figures of $737,218,927; New York, $731,533,502; Pennsylvania, $293,299,153; Illinois, $239,314,270, California, $234,684,210; New Jersey, $223,921,264; Louisiana, $222,847,224; Michigan, $177,876,654; Virginia, $150,198,225; Ohio, $133,559,362, and Massachusetts, with merchandise valuations of $114,418,430. Minnesota, with shipments valued at $98,880,490, was just outside of the first eleven states, while Nevada, with exports amounting to but $233,413, brought up the rear of the entire list.

This is the first time in the history of government trade statistics, according to Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, under whose charge the figures were compiled, that an attempt has been made to show the relative yearly standing of the different states and regions of the union in the never ending struggle for foreign trade. "Formerly, official trade figures gave only the port from which the shipments were cleared," inland producers, desirous of finding out what agricultural and manufactured goods came from their regions wanted the commerce department to adopt some other system. The outcome was the new compilation which is based primarily on through-bills-of-lading, and therefore, in the case of some states, reflects but a part of their total foreign trade and for others includes goods produced elsewhere.

The element of seasonal fluctuation, said Director Klein, should also be considered.

Two Floors of Good Things to Wear

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

JACK LONDON AND HIS "MATE"

If we knew nothing else about Jack London except that he was in the habit of addressing his wife as "mate" in the intimacy of their home life, we could make a fairly good guess as to what kind of a man he was—a romantic to his backbone. Describing her husband's method of work, Charmion London says: "Very often he would call me as I went by: 'Come, Mate—see how this is going along!' And he would read me as far as he had gone."

Somewhat that gives me a better idea of what kind of a person Jack London must have been than a dozen pages of detailed description could give. Also it explains to some degree his enormous success. All other things being equal, such as narrative power, experience of life, the romantic always has a much better chance for success than the realist. It is the nature of the millions to resent having the unvarnished truth told about life but the writer who finds it natural and easy to describe life as a romantic adventure is sure of a warm welcome.

SOME CAN DO IT

There are writers who have a good enough nose for business to understand this and they can drip romanticism in print while in real life they are as businesslike as a bank president. They can win and hold their readers with the kind of Scenes in which a man speaking to his wife calls her "mate" while they would feel sheepish if they called their own wives anything else than Betty or Jennie or Sadie or whatever the names may be.

They get away with it after a fashion and they can go on fooling enough people for a long enough period of time so that they can ride in automobiles as a result of giving descriptions of romantic he-men who battle against arctic blizzards on snowshoes, but they are not born to the purple, when a man can live that kind of thing and finds it natural to address his wife as "mate" and in addition to that has a narrative gift he couldn't fall if he tried.

About all Jack London did in all his novels and stories was to dramatize himself. It is said of him that he almost never created a woman character that was anything more than a stock figure. The reason for that is obvious; he could not get out of himself, he could not create a character who was not himself put into type. The same thing is to some extent true of Robert Louis Stevenson, another arch-romantic.

PAINTED HIMSELF

Jack London all his life was playing a sort of literary game with himself, imagining himself going up against great odds, knocking the wind out of 15 bravvy lumberjacks in a saloon, or trekking into the interior of Alaska with a 200-pound sack of provisions on his back, or rescuing a pretty girl from the hands of rowdies (all young boys have that dream and the romantic always remains a boy), circumventing evil men in the wilds, and doing scores of other deeds, both possible and impossible. It was always Jack London masquerading under some other name who was doing all the deeds done in his books and all his life he was writing a kind of imaginary autobiography under the guise of fiction.

The fact that he could keep up the romantic attitude in the intimacy of his home life shows that he was not putting on the romantic pose as a business proposition but that he lived his books. Comparatively few writers would be able to do it, their sense of humor getting the better of them—more likely still their wives' sense of humor would get the better of it for them. Perhaps Jack London's first wife felt that way about it and perhaps that was the reason why the two could not hit it off. But Charmion London was apparently as much of a romantic as he was and in her two volume biography of her husband she consistently sticks to the sort of literary superman idea of her husband. A romantic writer who can call his wife "mate" must be completely lucky; have a wife who can let herself be called that without snickering.

An interesting bit of information recently released is that Charmion London, nine years after Jack's death, is to complete the novel he left unfinished "The Eyes of Asia." She would seem to be exactly the right person for such a job.

At Last—Something Effective for Wrinkles

It has been conclusively demonstrated that a simple home-made tarrkroot paste, applied to the face will very quickly eliminate wrinkles, worry, care and age marks. You need only mix a spoonful each of powdered tarrkroot and lemon juice, spread this over your face, then sit down before your mirror and watch the unwelcome lines disappear. In less than fifteen minutes your face will be as smooth and firm as a young girl's! Baginess will also melt away—youthful contour will be restored. It's simply wonderful how this harmless mixture works.

The result, after the mixture is washed off the face, is infinitely better than from the most skillful face-massage. And the cost is trifling—less than three cents per treatment. Any druggist can supply powdered tarrkroot in original package. So there's no excuse now for any woman looking so old, haggard or careworn. adv.

C. C. PLANNING MORE MEETINGS WITH FARMERS

Directors Approve Idea of More Picnics of City and Country

Directors of Appleton Chamber of Commerce in session Wednesday decided that instead of holding meetings twice each month they would meet but once in July and August and perhaps only once in September. This was approved because attendance at the meetings during the hot season has been small in previous years, and probably would be as small this year.

Dr. H. K. Pratt, chairman of the rural affairs committee, reported tentative plans for a picnic suggested for August or September, to bring city and county members into closer contact. This plan was approved by the board of directors, but final arrangements will not be formulated until a later meeting.

Letters containing suggestions for the welfare and improvement of the city were read, among them one proposing the purchase by the city of the river front between Alicia and Pierce parks. There is very little river frontage in these two parks, the directors remarked, and the purchase of the land that would join the two parks would be highly commendable, they held.

Action of the city council in changing the name of Badger-ave back to State-ard on the request of the Daughters of the American Revolution was condemned in discussion by the directors. The change in itself could cause no harm had it come before the new city directors went to the press. Now the directors are in the bindery and it is too late to provide for the change in advertisements and addresses of businessmen and residents on the street in question. Consequently these people have paid their money for nothing, the directors held, and this is likely to arouse discontent and ill feeling among them. Many of the businessmen have had stationery printed with Badger-ave as the return address, and this will be useless because of the change in name, causing a considerable loss. Other serious annoyances are liable to result from the change, and the directors agreed that it was a great injustice to the merchants.

The Daughters of the American Revolution agreed to pay for the changing of street signs, but the merchants affected by the alteration have no means of redress.

A communication from former Mayor Henry Reuter expressing his thanks for the sentiment expressed in the address read at the dedication of the new Cherry-st bridge on May 28 was read and incorporated in the minutes of the board.

Wealth's Code of Love

A daughter of wealth, she was brought up to marry well. And from her parents' viewpoint, the fact that she had fallen honestly in love with a struggling young newspaper man was no excuse for throwing away her social position and future happiness by marrying him. So she did what many society girls are supposed to do—she literally sold herself to a millionaire whom she despised. Had she only been able to look ahead at the ghastly tragedy fate held in store for her! What happened to this girl is a common enough occurrence in high society. Kiwanians Can Carry Skates To Convention

An ice skating party in midsummer will be one of the many entertainments for members of Appleton Kiwanis club who will attend the Kiwanis international convention at St. Paul June 22, 23, 24, and 25. This ice carnival on the evening of June 24 will take place at the Minneapolis ice arena.

Many entertainment features of unusual interest for Kiwanis members and their wives have been included on the tentative convention program received by James DeBauter, chairman of the local "on to St. Paul" committee.

June 22, the opening day of the convention will be taken up with registration of delegates in the morning, and a reception for ladies in the afternoon given by the governor's wife for the wife of the international president of Kiwanis. All Kiwanis night will be held on this evening at the St. Paul auditorium. Special music will be furnished for this occasion. Later on in the evening there will be dancing in four different places in St. Paul. Also of particular interest to Appleton delegates will be the special Wisconsin and upper Michigan ball at Commodore auditorium.

The morning and afternoon of June 23 will be devoted to business sessions which will be followed by a Wisconsin-upper Michigan banquet at Hotel Commodore. Culb stunts and impromptu entertainment will be the features of this banquet with hundreds of prizes offered for the best stunts and entertainments. At 8 o'clock on the evening of the second day will occur the biggest dance of the convention, the president's ball. It will be held on the largest dance floor in the world. Business sessions will be held in the morning and afternoon of Wednesday, June 24, and this day will be climaxed by the midsummer ice carnival at the Minneapolis ice arena in the evening. There will be a business session on the morning of June 25. At this time election of officers will take place, and the next convention city will be chosen.

Several attractive features have been arranged for the ladies attending the convention. Besides the governor's wife's reception there is a special shopping tour on the morning of June 23, and a ladies' entertainment at two of the St. Paul country clubs given by service clubs of the city in the afternoon. There will be another shopping tour on the morning of June 24, and in the afternoon they will attend a military review, and a polo match at Fort Snelling on the outskirts of St. Paul. Appleton delegates to the convention are J. L. Pohns and Lewis C. Sleeper. Alternate delegates are Dr. Virgil B. Scott and Walter Hughes.

Through an error on the part of the Post-Crescent the dresses on sale here were advertised at $6. This price should have been $9. Little Paris Millinery.

Most oil burners dare not use it

Here two Nokoi are shown. One installed in a typical home heating plant, the other in a water heater.

The success of automatic oil heating for the home dates from the perfection of this combustion chamber. It is exclusive with Nokoi and cannot be imitated. It acts entirely by radiant heat.

Nokoi does not recommend the use of heavy low grade oil to its owners. It recommends a cheap distillate which will always be plentiful.

This is a higher grade of oil than most oil burners dare use. If the ordinary oil burner used it the fuel cost would be prohibitive.

The reason for this is the exclusive and patented Nokoi combustion chamber. This combustion chamber produces the 1600° necessary for complete combustion in 30 seconds. To do this with refractory brick work takes an hour and longer. With an open flame burner this temperature is never reached. The result is waste.

The fuel cost of Nokoi burning this distillate is less than that of hard coal. It is also the best of our knowledge less than that of any other oil burner regardless of the grade of fuel used.

To be sure of having your Nokoi by fall, get in touch with us today. Call or phone.

Which "Eighth" Is Pushing Your Car?

ONLY one-eighth—12½%—of what ever gas you buy ever reaches the rear wheels in the form of power. The rest of your gasoline dollar—87½%, seven-eighths—is used up in wasted heat, friction and mechanical resistance that never net you an inch of road travel. Take the engineers' word for those facts and figures.

Now, doesn't it stand to reason that the badness of half a spoiled egg must be just as bad as that of the whole egg. —Mustn't the eighth of a poor, run-down, cheapened, kerosenish power supply be just as poor, run-down and kerosenish as the original quantity? If you've been buying that kind of eighth—that kind of whole—it's high time to stop it with a short turn. As long as an eighth is all that can push your car let it be the eighth of a full-value gasoline dollar, unbattered, undepreciated, unnicked and unalloyed.

is that value. It is genuine, straight-run, true gasoline, free from counterfeited filling of kerosene and unabsorbed carbon. It delivers at your wheels the greatest available volume of power, frees you from starting troubles and from the deeper evils of jerky running and oil-dilution.

HIGHWAY 55 NO. PLACE FOR CAR, TOURIST SAYS

Tourists returning from Kenosha and points north are looking for the scalp of the person responsible for the announcement that Highway 55 is in excellent condition. They report that the road is almost impassable. Construction is in progress on part of the highway, it is reported, but at the rate of present progress it will not be finished for five years. One of the drivers who recently made the trip stated that there are about five men repairing a stretch of more than five miles, and said that the entire length of the road is deep with sand and in some places is covered with sod.

SIXX HUNDRED COUPLE SUNDAY — GREENVILLE

Bad Luck and the Devil Pursued Him

"I don't think any one has had more bad luck and sickness than I have. In 1905 I had two ribs, an arm and collar bone broken in a railroad accident. Then I had pneumonia. After recovering I crossed a pasture when a bull chased me, tossed me over the fence and broke my right leg. In 1910 I had typhoid fever; since then severe stomach and liver trouble, which no medicine or doctor touched until two years ago I got a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which proved the first ray of light in thirteen years." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists. adv.

An L. C. Smith For Every Need

L. C. Smith typewriters are made with carriages of different widths, from the regular model to the one which takes paper 26 1/4 inches wide. These wide carriage models are especially well liked by the typist, because it takes no more force to operate the shift key than it does on the regular model. The width of the carriage does not affect the operation of the shift key, because the type is shifted—not the carriage.

On account of ball bearing construction, the shift key on all models operates with very little more pressure than is required for the type keys. The booklet, "The Greyhound of the Office," tells more about this feature. It can be had for the asking.

STEEL IN PLACE FOR NEW BRIDGE

Construction Is Proceeding Rapidly—Framework Is Completed

Kaukauna—Construction of the new bridge spanning the Fox river has been rapid during the last week. Enough of the steel framework has been set up to give the passerby an idea of the appearance of the complete structure. The huge 10-ton girders, reaching from span to span and which form the base of the structure have been laid. Short steel beams have been set up at right angles to the large girders. They are about six feet apart and are the base upon which the roadway will be built. The sidewalks for pedestrians will be set up on the outside of the large girders and the preliminary framework also has been completed. Practically all of the hand railings have been put into place.

Work during the last few days has been confined to erecting the task being accomplished with electric machines. Tall steel posts have been set up at regular intervals along the edge of the bridge and a fancy cut steel beam has been placed between each set of posts, at angles to the length of the bridge. There are three such sets and they will hold aloft the power wires of the city electric and water department.

TO BUILD THREE BOOMS AT BEACH

Order Improvements for Safety and Convenience of New London Bathers

New London—Dr. F. J. Pfeiffer, local health officer, has authorized extensive plans for the improvement of the city bathing beach. Three new booms are to be constructed. Two are for the bathers who are as yet unable to swim, to give them access to the shallow water, and one which will be placed in the middle of the river, will be for the use of the swimmers who are safe in the deep water. A life line will also be provided for those who are not able to swim.

The pool itself will be thoroughly cleaned out. In its present condition, it is very unsafe, as the bottom is full of deadheads and snags, and swimmers who dive or jump from the top of the bridge, a distance of nearly twenty feet in low water, run a great risk of serious injury.

A carpenter will be hired to make repairs to the bath house, and place it in a sanitary condition. The life guard, Lansing McFall, will be instructed to give lessons to those wishing to learn to swim, and will be provided with a life belt.

STAGE

FRANCE AND ENGLAND SCENES OF "LITTLE FRENCH GIRL"
The "Little French Girl" arrives in town Sunday at Fischer's Appleton theatre.

And if you haven't read the "best-seller" novel by Anne Douglas Sedgwick, don't let a soul tell you the story until you've seen the Paramount picture with Mary Brian in the title role.

Written for the screen by John Russell and produced by Herbert Brenon, who made "Peter Pan," "The Little French Girl" is a story of Alix who innocently adores her mother, never suspecting for a moment the truth about her love affairs. An English army officer, Madame's latest favorite, arranges to have the little French girl make her home with his family in England.

With the armistice comes the news of Owen Bradley's death. Alix, who has won her way into the hearts of everyone in England, refuses to let the boy's fiancée sacrifice herself to his memory by going into a convent. She exposes Owen in all his infidelity, only to have the girl denounce her mother for having taken her sweetheart from her. Nothing Alix can say can change her, and she enters her convent.

Clies, Owen's younger brother, comes to the realization that he really loves the little French girl, though by this time she has about decided to accept the attentions of a wealthy young Englishman for her mother's sake. It's an unusual situation that arises, but leave it to Brenon to handle it with a master's hand—Brenon who introduced all the deft touches into Darric's fantasy, now a screen masterpiece.

Romance." Topics of the Day and other novelty reels.

U. S. COAST FIRE PATROL IN ACTION

There is nothing more sensational in the world than the New Bijou Theatre today and Saturday on the unvarying system of building one big punch out of another big punch. The thrill comes regularly and startlingly as the reports of a machine gun. For instance, a terrific explosion in the hold of a ship fades into a storm scene at sea which has seldom been rivalled on the screen. The storm becomes symbolic background between the hero and the sister of his fiancée. This sequence is interrupted by a huge fire at sea. The fire develops into the rescue of a villainous character who had been the life-long enemy of the blind, old captain, present at his deliverance from death. The villain's recovery makes possible a striking scene in which he leads the blind man to the edge of a cliff and leaves him there, helpless, to walk into boundless space. This presumed riddance of the old captain gives the villain his opportunity to entrap the heroine for his own hideous purpose. His brutality motivates the fight scene between him and the hero, a fight which rivals the famous old struggle in "The Spoilers" for thrills. The fight enables the blind captain to recognize him as his enemy. The recognition causes the erring sister to sacrifice her life for the old man, which increases his mania for vengeance to the strength for killing the villain.

"Waking Up the Town" is at the Elite Theatre for the last time tonight. It is not a halocust—it is a photoplay. Jack Pickford is the star, Frank Condon and James Cruze are the authors. Norma Shearer is the leading lady. Alec B. Francis has the leading male character part. Claire McDowell is featured in the principal feminine character role. Ann May is the "vamp." George Dromgold is the hateful villain. It is a very human picture with the star presenting a most appealing characterization. He is an automobile mechanic. He has big ideas. But he's a poor salesman and can't put 'em over. Then the end of the world is predicted. And he falls in love. Then comes—but that would be telling.

Much of the action of Rafael Sabatini's famous novel, "Captain Blood," which will be the attraction at Elite theatre on Saturday and Sunday is laid on the Barbadoes, an island of the British West Indies. It is thought that the name is derived from the Indian tree which the Portuguese called las bobadas (the bearded). The capital, Bridgetown, is reproduced in the film as it appeared in 1585 when Captain Blood was sent to the Barbo-does by the cruel King James. J. Warren Kerrigan has the title role and Jeani Fiske the leading feminine role. Templar Saxe is cast as Governor Stead and Wilfrid North as Col. Bishop.

Great care has been exercised by Director David Smith to make the production historically correct in the smallest detail.

A VALLEY BAIL SET AT $10,000

Appeal to Supreme Court Will Be Taken in Man's Assault Case

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Waupaca—Judge Byron B. Park of Stevens Point, has set the bail for Arthur LaValley at $10,000. LaValley wants to be released from the county jail pending an appeal to the supreme court of Wisconsin for a decision in his case. Judge Parks sentenced LaValley to ten years at Waupun, as a result of a verdict of guilty returned to the charge of assault upon a young girl. It was not announced whether LaValley could raise the required amount of bail. Attorney L. D. Smith of this city, who represented the defense during the trial, made application for bail and will present the case to the high court.

A total of $26,048.75 of unpaid taxes was purchased by individuals and the county at the tax sale at the courthouse in the office of the county treasurer Tuesday. Over $45,000 in unpaid taxes was returned to the county, so there remains about $19,000 of the list not yet taken up.

Clintonville-Waupaca bus line, now operating through the towns and villages of Clintonville, Marion, Big Falls, Iowa, Scandinavia and Waupaca, makes two round trips each day, leaving Clintonville at 6:30 a. m., and 12:45 p. m., and Waupaca 9:30 a. m., and 4:45 p. m.

Waupaca City baseball team will meet the newly organized Lake View Menasha team Sunday afternoon at Penney athletic park west of the city of Waupaca. Game is to be called at 2:30. The Menasha team is made up of American legion boys and some of the former State league team that recently dropped out of the league. They are said to be a strong semipro organization and a good game is expected. The locals will be strengthened by the return of most of the regulars.

The rain on Thursday in the vicinity of Waupaca proved to be a great relief to the areas of sandy soil which were swept by high winds on Tuesday and Wednesday. Corn just appearing through the ground was damaged to some extent in this section on account of the wind. Much of it looked as if it were recovered. Farmers state the crop could be recovered from the effects under favorable circumstances. The bulk of the potato crop is now being planted. The condition of the soil for preparation to plant was said to make progress slow. Rainfall enough to be of any benefit to the hay crop is a thing of the past. Grains though backward and short have plenty chance to develop if weather conditions permit.

BUILDING PERMITS

Four garages were included under building permits issued by the city building inspector Thursday and Friday. The eight permits issued covered cost estimates of $3,073 and were issued as follows:

Charles Kelley, 11 Bellaire-ct, garage.
River Boat club, Green Bay-st, addition to clubhouse.
St. Paul congregation, 709 E. North-st, porch.
C. W. Kirsch, 512 E. Wisconsin-ave, garage.
Arthur Hintz, 1527 N. Alvin-st, porch and garage.
Carl Munson, 1409 S. Jackson-st, garage.
Dairy Specialty Co., 111 N. Superior-st, floor in icehouse.
Mrs. A. Hietpas, 112 W. Brewster-st, basement.

Want Evolution Case To Reach U. S. Supreme Court

Washington, D. C. — The nation's leading scientists, virtually all strong supporters of the evolution theory hope that J. T. Scopes, indicted in Tennessee for teaching evolution, will be found guilty.

They would like to see him sentenced—so the case can be appealed. They point out that then, and not until then, will come the test of whether or not there can be laws prohibiting educators from going beyond the superstitions handed down from the Dark Ages.

WANTS IT SETTLED

Dr. Walter Hough, head curator of anthropology at the Smithsonian Institution, and recognized as one of the world's leading authorities on evolution, states the case as follows: "Scopes is to be tried for violating a certain law. The question of whether it is a good or bad law is not involved. The truth or falsity of evolution does not enter into the case."

"If Scopes should be acquitted, it will simply prove that he did not violate the law—nothing more. The matter will then be dropped."

"If he is convicted, however, the case will undoubtedly be appealed and eventually find its way into the Supreme Court. Then it can be decided whether or not such a law is constitutional."

"That will really be the test of how far our civilization has advanced—of how much we are willing to recognize the truth."

DEPLORES ROW

As to the controversy between evolution and religion. Dr. Hough expressed the opinion that it is unnecessary, lamentable and ridiculous.

More tolerance and broadmindedness, he declared, is needed on both sides.

"Science and religion do not conflict," he said, "unless you want to make them conflict."

"Personally, I believe in God and I believe in evolution. I can see no way in which these two beliefs conflict."

CASE OF EGGS HITS MAN AND BREAKS RIB

Adolph Schneider of Sunny Slope is suffering from a broken rib caused by a case of eggs that fell on him Wednesday. Schneider was riding beside the driver of a truck loaded with cases of eggs and other farm produce when a sudden jolt shook the case off the top of the truck. He avoided being hit on the head by dodging but was too late to escape entirely.

CITY WORKER HELPS TO EARN HIS OWN SALARY

R. F. Hackworthy, assistant street commissioner, has reversed the ordinary procedure and instead of taking money out of the city treasury has added to the fund to the extent of $8. Several days ago the carnival now showing in the lot on the corner of S. Oneida and Calumet-sts caused the pavement over the culvert on S. Oneida-st just north of St. Elizabeth hospital to collapse while unloading its equipment. Mr. Hackworthy, always on the job, noticed the damage and proceeded to collect $8 to defray the expense of repairing it. He had no trouble in collecting the money and turned it over to the city treasury.

KOFFEND HOME HAS $1,000 FIRE

Roof Fire Had Brisk Start Before Fire Department Was Called Out

Damage amounting to about $1,000 was caused to the residence of Joseph Koffend, Jr., 230 W. Prospect-ave, when the roof caught fire at about 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The flames had spread to an alarming extent when the fire first was noticed and it required the combined efforts of the entire fire department to put them out. According to Chief George P. McGillan the fire apparently was started by a spark from the chimney of the fireplace, in which a log fire had been ignited because of the cold weather.

The chemical wagon was called out at 8:10 Thursday evening to extinguish a chimney fire at the home of James Piette, 733 W. College-ave, which caused but little damage.

CHICAGO HEALTH ORDER NOT FELT BY DAIRIES HERE

More Than 75 Per Cent of Cattle on Outagamie-co
Farms Are Tuberculin
Tested

Outagamie-co has not been affected adversely by the recent order of the Chicago health department barring cream from all districts in which less than 75 per cent of the herds are tuberculin tested, according to Appleton dealers, because most of the herds in this district comply with the rule. Approximately 145,000 gallons of cream are shipped from this county to Chicago every month. Outagamie-co being one of the chief sources of cream supply for the metropolis. These 145,000 gallons of cream are only part of the supply used by the crowded millions of Chicago for household use and in ice cream factories.

The practice adopted by Chicago to secure pure milk is becoming more general each year, according to J. A. Woods of Potts-Woods and Co., and it is probable that in a few years it will be impossible to sell milk unless it comes from tested herds. This means that farmers will be forced to have their cattle tested in order to dispose of their dairy products, and it is likely that all Wisconsin counties will follow the example set by Outagamie-co.

MANY REACTORS
Many counties in the southern part of the state are hit hard by the decision of the Chicago health department. In some of these the number of reactors to the tuberculin test runs as high as 20 per cent. When area tests are undertaken by the state or federal government, these reactors are slaughtered and the owners paid an indemnity, not to exceed $40 for a grade cow, and $50 for a pure bred cow. These indemnities are not paid, however, unless the stock has been owned by the farmer at least 90 days before the test was made.

The extensive market for cream has caused 35 cheese factories in the neighborhood of Appleton to stop making cheese within the past few years. Milk still is collected at these factories, but instead of being turned into cheese it is merely separated and the cream shipped out. The output in this county has been doubled in ten years, according to estimates of Appleton dealers, and is still growing.

Outagamie-co is a natural dairying district, being very fertile and producing the kind of fodder especially suited for cattle. It is known as one of the most important dairying districts of the world in an important dairy state, both because of the richness of its milk and the excellent sanitation in its dairy farms.

CORN CROP NOT SO BAD OFF AS THOUGHT

Forecasts of a ruined corn crop made after the cold spell immediately preceding the recent hot weather were exaggerated, it is found, now that the seed has sprouted far enough to outline the rows. Even the corn that suffered most from the frosts now is large enough for cultivation, and some fields already have been gone over three times.

Sugar beet raisers also have begun hoeing their fields and thinning out the beets, and according to present indications this will be a good year. The recent strong winds have dried the soil, however, and the farmers all would welcome rain.

Last year's alfalfa suffered more than anything else from cold weather. Some farmers report that crops put in last year have been wiped out entirely, but the seed planted this year appears to be doing very well.

CAN'T MAKE FLOOD SURVEY UNTIL LATER

If riparians desire to have the government board of engineers come here and look over the flood hazards of the Fox and Wolf rivers and the feasibility of the proposed cutoff canal from Shiocton to Duck Creek, they will have to wait until a later date.

That is the substance of a message received by Alan H. Tripp, president of the Association for Relief of High Water, from Major G. R. Young, of the engineering corps of the war department. The official declared that the hearing would have to be held at Washington or else the trip to the Fox and Wolf River valleys would have to be made sometime later. Mr. Tripp feels that rather than have the hearing at Washington where only oral testimony could be given, the riparians would prefer to have the engineering board come here and see for itself what the problem actually is.

CAR THIEVES BUSY IN NEW VICINITIES

Automobile thieves have begun what promises to be a busy season, for in addition to a car stolen in Fond du Lac Tuesday, the police department here has been asked to look out for a Ford sedan stolen in Bonduel Wednesday. The license plate bears the number, A-21-888 and is the property of Otto Helmer, route 3, Bonduel, according to the report received here.

Accommodation or Thrift—Which?

If you borrow money you pay interest. It is an accommodation. Merchandise costs money and when you say "charge it" you pay the interest on the cost of the goods you buy. A business of this kind means paying for the use of money all along the line from maker to customer.

Ready money to pay spot cash for every purchase, large or small, assures thrift and important savings. This applies equally to the merchant and to the customer.

We sell only for cash and thus save you money on each purchase.

BOARD OF HEALTH WILL PURGE CITY

Inspections and Laws Are Planned to Prevent Unsanitary Conditions

Neenah A clean and sanitary city was the outstanding subject for discussion in the meeting Thursday afternoon of the Neenah board of health. Yards, alleys and ponds in all parts of the city are to be inspected as to their sanitary conditions. Plans are being formulated for a thorough inspection of the entire city as well as drafting ordinances, whereby people found dumping rubbish in the roads and ponds of river can be prosecuted. Arrangements are to be made for a garbage collector in the city the same as was maintained last year.

A milk inspection is also forthcoming and arrangements made to license persons selling milk to people of this city as the board claims there are many vendors of milk who seldom have their places inspected while creameries and recognized milk men are compelled to undergo rigid inspection and abide by laws governing the handling of milk and milk products.

CROWDS — CROWDS GREENVILLE — SUNDAY

HERRIN VICTIM KLAN SPEAKER

Mrs. S. Glenn Young Tells How She Was Shot Blind by Lawless Gang

Neenah—"I hope you are all true blue and red blooded," was the manner in which Mrs. S. Glenn Young, the blind wife of the government official who figured in riots and raids in central Illinois until he was killed, opened her talk Thursday evening in S. A. Cook armory.

A crowd of about 500 people gathered to hear Mrs. Young tell of the experiences both she and her husband had in endeavoring to make lawless people in Williamson-co, Illinois, obey the laws as they were written. The speaker appeared here under the auspices of the Ku Klux Klan which society gave great aid in assisting to enforce laws during some of the worst uprisings in the vicinity of Herron, Ill.

The speaker gave a glowing review of the work which her husband was called upon to do, some of the raids he participated in during which men on both sides were shot and killed; of how she was shot in the face and rendered totally blind by a band of gangsters which she claimed was assisting the sheriffs and deputies of that locality; of how soft drink parlors were closed because their owners would not pay the $100 bribe to deputies and of the shooting of her husband on the night of Jan. 24 when he was called to the hotel in

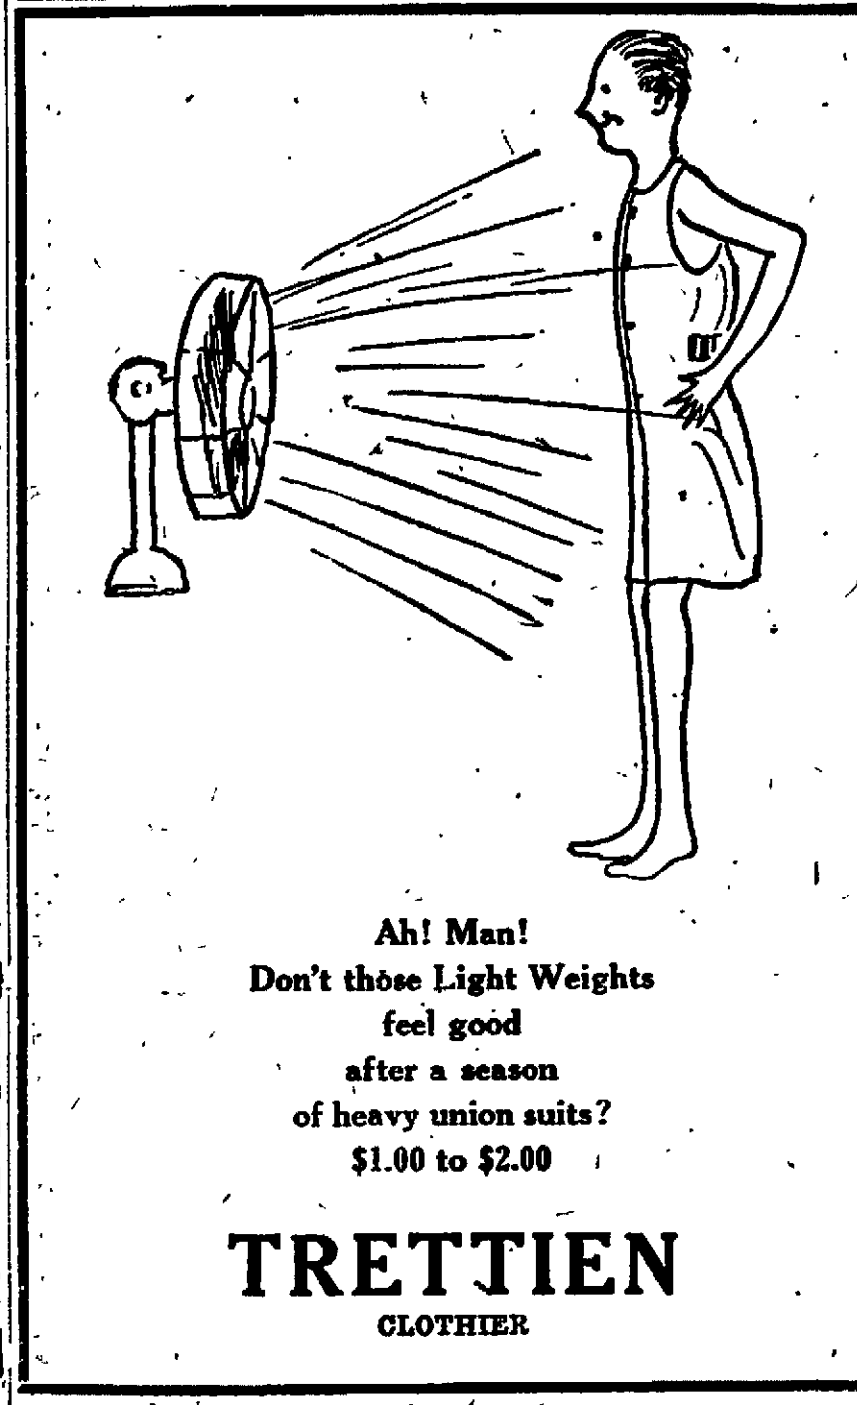

Herron and pounced upon from all sides by these gangsters who were in hiding in the hotel. "He was a government officer," she stated, "and had all the power in the United States behind him but this caused no fear for those men who have no regard for the United States or its laws." She spoke on revenge and how it was impossible to be neutral after her father had been killed, her husband had been shot to death and she had been blinded for life by such people as were living in Williamson-co. Her sole ambition besides bringing up her 2-year-old son to be an American, she said "by the help of God and Klan to make America a safe place to live in."

Mrs. Young's talk was preceded by a short talk by James Hicks of Appleton, who introduced the speaker.

Epson Salts
Is Disliked
By Vermin

Epson salt sprinkled in trunks, cupboards and other closed spaces is a great protection against moths, cockroaches and vermin and is considered preferable to the commonly used naphthalene by Dr. Paul Mitchell, Australian quarantine officer.

Dr. Mitchell noticed that on opening passengers' baggage for fumigation, magnesium sulphate (Epson salt) was sometimes used by travelers for the prevention of vermin. He determined to test its value as a fumigant by naphthalene in the cupboards of the quarantine station, which was considerably troubled by the presence of moths, cockroaches, silver fish and a species of ant.

The cupboards were carefully cleaned out, the linen replaced and magnesium sulphate scattered over the linen and shelves in one block, while naphthalene was used in another block. Weekly observations were made. At the end of three months traces of vermin were found in the cupboards where naphthalene was used, while those sprinkled with Epson salt were free and the crystals of the salt as crisp as ever.

The difference in favor of magnesium sulphate was more noticeable at the end of five months, and by the end of a year the cupboards were still quite free from vermin, although the magnesium sulphate had deteriorated slightly, about a third of the crystals having turned to powder. These observations were confirmed by other trials. When tried in the open wards of the hospital, however, on mattresses, for example, the magnesium sulphate was found to deteriorate to a powder.

Dr. Mitchell concludes that Epson salt is of far greater efficiency than naphthalene for the protection of linen and other fabrics against moths, cockroaches, silver fish, etc., but that on account of its rapid deterioration in the open it can only be employed in closed spaces.

You see, little Marquise, I had the idea that a woman forgiving a man for his own sins against her was an exploded notion. In these days of woman's independence.

My dear mother, however, told me something entirely different. "I have found from both my own and my friends' experience," she said, "that the most successful wives are always the first to make up a quarrel."

"Even the best men, my dear child, have down in their hearts, a feeling of superiority to women. It has been engrained in them by history and tradition until it has become almost biological. Very few men can bring themselves, you know, to acknowledge to an inferior, that they are wrong."

I must have looked greatly disgusted, little Marquise, for mother said with a smile: "Oh, my dear, I am sure you are quite as bad as the rest in this primitive feminine trait. Confess that you too at times have cuddled up in Jack's arms and been magnanimously forgiven for some sin or folly that he has committed himself."

"Mother," I interposed. "I never knew that you could be sarcastic, at least when talking to your own daughter."

"I am not sarcastic, but truthful, my dear. I am saying all this to you because I want you to realize that you are on the wrong track and if you keep on it will be very unhappy. Instead of trying to make your husband fit your ideal, reconstruct your ideal, my dear, so that it will fit your husband. Jack is an average man, not very profound, not at all scholarly. You are cleverer than he. Therefore there is no reason why you should not dominate the situation and make him perfectly happy while doing so."

"I despise a woman who tries to manage her husband," I said with contempt.

"You have been trying to do this in a manner which is perfectly obvious and odious to Jack ever since you have been married."

I gasped and tried to speak, but mother went on quietly. "The wife who is wise will manage her husband for his happiness and harmonious marriage that a wife did not manage her husband, but in such a way that he did not know. That has been the beauty of woman ever since we managed to get Adam out of the Garden of Eden and put him to work where she knew he would be happier than lazily wondering if he had better eat of the tree of knowledge."

"But I don't want to drop to subterfuge," I retorted hotly. "I only want perfect understanding."

"Oh, no you don't," she interrupted. "for if he did understand you, you would be most uncomfortable. Be thankful that your husband does nothing of the kind and never will, Leslie, when he does, all the zest of loving will be gone. Say what you may, my dear, loving is only a game and its greatest interest is that one never knows while one lives, what will be the outcome."

Adventures
Of The Twins

BIRD HOUSES
Jack Frost had taken his long nose and his paint brushes and gone for good.

The little Raggy Fairies under the ground had pushed and pushed at the roots of things until the grass and little green plants covered the whole earth.

And the blossom fairies had been so busy that trees were now sprinkled all over with fuzzy buds and katkins.

And beside that there were yellow bushes out everywhere.

Mrs. Bluebird built her nest in a fence corner while fat, lazy Mister Bluebird watched her.

Mister Redbreast had a little more decency about him and did most of the nest building himself.

The March Hare and the Twins came along just as the last piece of straw was put into place.

"I forgot!" exclaimed the hare. "I certainly did plumb forget."

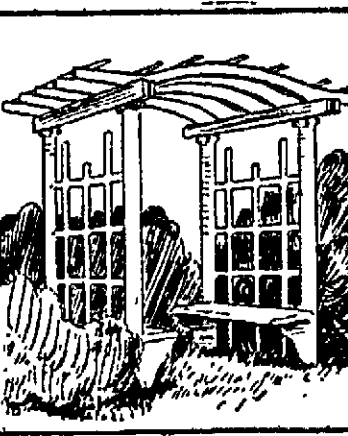

"What's the matter?" asked Nancy. "What did you forget? Isn't spring started? Isn't everything all right?"

"It certainly isn't," said the hare. "I forgot about the bird houses. There are some birds who go househunting every spring instead of nestbuilding. The wrens do and the martins do and a lot of other birds beside. We'll have to go and tell the people."

"You needn't bother on our account," called out a little song sparrow from a high weed.

HOME BEAUTY

ARBOR ADDS TO GARDEN BEAUTY

Nothing enhances the beauty of your garden or back yard more than an arbor. Here's one that is very attractive and which you build yourself if you're handy with tools. Paint it white and when it is partly covered with roses or vines, you will be pleased with the effect.

"And you needn't bother on our account," called a swallow from a barn roof. "We like a special kind of nest made of mud. Either that or a chimney."

"Or on my account," said Mrs. Flicker. "A hole in an old tree is good enough for me."

There were other birds who could also have said not to bother about them, but they had not yet come from the south. The meadow lark, for instance, would likely have said, "I build my nest on the ground."

And the blue jay would have said (if he were honest). "You needn't bother about me either, for I use the nests that other birds have built."

And the oriole would have said, "And as for us, we make a sort of pocket and hang it from a branch. No bird house for us, thank you!"

But, for all there were so many birds who didn't need houses, the March Hare knew that there were hundreds who did.

Mister Tingaling, the fairly landlord, took out his rent book. "I figure," said he, "that there are going to be at least nine hundred and ninety-nine more bird houses needed this year than ever before. What had we better do?"

"We'll write to all the boys at once," said the March Hare, "and advertise in the papers."

The next morning every boy for miles and miles found a letter under his door.

And all the papers in town told about bird houses being needed.

And now, if you listen very, very carefully you will hear sounds of sawing and hammering everywhere. It is people building houses for the poor homeless little wrens and warblers and martins, so they will have some place to go when they come to visit.

If you haven't one near your house now, you'd better hustle and make one, so you had.

Tea Wagons
Are Helpful
To Hostess

It detracts from the smooth service of a meal if the hostess is frequently obliged to leave the table. When there is no maid she should have all the food and dishes for the several courses near the dinner table. It will expedite matters if both the host and the hostess have a serving table, or tea wagon, within reach.

When the first course is finished the empty dishes should be passed to the hostess (dinner plates should be at each place) and while this is in progress the host transfers the meat and vegetables from his side of the table to the dining table and proceeds to carve and serve. Relishes, sauces, etc., are passed to each person.

When the main course is finished the host places the platter and other serving dishes on his side table and guests pass their plates to both host and hostess. Later then serves the salad and at the conclusion of this course the guests again assist in clearing the table by passing the plates and the hostess serves the dessert. If this must be kept on ice until the last minute it will be necessary for the hostess to leave the table but the dessert should be served at the table.

The after dinner coffee service should be in readiness on a tray in the kitchen and the coffee ready to be poured so the guests can be served immediately upon leaving the table.

Plan Commission Will Hold
Hearing on Creating Residence Zone

Neenah—Recommendations to be submitted to the council, condemning properties owned by Mr. Plucker and Mr. Christensen in the First ward, were made by the planning commission Thursday evening during its meeting. These properties are in line with the opening of Klondike-st from Division-st to St. Park-ave which opening the commission will recommend to the council for action. Both these men have refused to sell parts of land which will have to be acquired in order to continue this street. A parcel of land on that street owned by G. Urtlen was also recommended purchased at a price of $400.

A public hearing was recommended on the matter of declaring that part of the city from First-st to the lake in the Third ward and from Henry-st to the lake bounded by Division-st in the Second ward in a strictly residential district.

The commission viewed plans for the new high school and fourth ward school building and referred them to a subcommittee composed of E. D. Beale and Kimberly Stuart to investigate.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL COACH VISITS IN CITY-ON SATURDAY

Former Beloit Star Will Take Summer Coaching Course Under Bob Zupke

John McAuliffe, one of the greatest athletic stars ever produced at Beloit college, and 1925-26 director of athletics at Appleton high school, arrived in this city Friday afternoon to spend the weekend in getting better acquainted with the athletic situation here. McAuliffe will spend most of his time in this city at the high school and it is his desire to meet as many of the school athletes as the time permits. Most of the 1924-25 letter men are expected to be on hand to greet their new coach. After his visit here Mac will prepare for his new post by taking a summer coaching course under Bob Zupke of Illinois, one of the country's greatest coaches.

The former Beloit star piloted the Madison, S. D., high school football, basketball and track teams to district titles in his first year of coaching last year. His cage squad took second honors in the state tourney. His athletic record is well-known to all Appletonians who have seen his work beat star teams from Lawrence college on local fields or courts.

McAuliffe played quarterback on the Mills teams from 1922-24, was center on the basketball squad for the same time, and was a member of the championship track squad of the state line school for three years. Beside being chosen several times for mythical all-conference teams in both football and basketball, Mac holds the mid-west conference pole-vault mark with 12 feet 1 inch. His work as a sprinter aided the crack Beloit relay crew to set a new state record and his ability at winning points in four events, both hurdles, the vault and high jump, helped Mills win three straight state track titles.

Mac will find a good situation to work out when he arrives here next year. With a star line on the grid, he will have to develop almost an entire backfield, including a good quarterback, but he shines as a backfield coach. He will have a fair basketball squad and a fair track squad, both of which will take plenty of developing.

PAPERMAKERS MEET REFORMATORY CREW

Fox River Paper Co. baseball team, Appleton's entry in the Eastern Wisconsin League, will meet the strong Green Bay reformatory crew in a practice game on the reformatory field Saturday. The reformatory squad is one of the strongest in the northern part of the state and has a great record for this season as far as it goes. Several crack reformatory crews have felt the sting of defeat at it's hands.

Reformatory probably will be given a chance at the enemy on Saturday. The youngster is pitching good ball but his inexperience together with the fact that the Papermakers have two fine pitchers keep him out of many of the loop games. The local crew is playing quite a little Saturday ball as well as the regular league games on Sunday in order to keep in form for the strong competition encountered in the league.

APPLETON GUNNERS IN TWO BIG SHOOT MEETS

Members of the Appleton Angling and Shooting club and their friends have a busy weekend in store for them with two big shoots carded for Saturday and Sunday. The Saturday shoot will start at 2 p. m. and the Sunday affair at 10 a. m. rain or shine. Both shoots will be held at the club field on the Interurban line to Watery beach.

Two large groups of outside shooters will invade Appleton for the big Sunday shoot, according to announcements. John J. Jeffrey, city attorney at Wisconsin Rapids and president of the Wisconsin Rapids Gun club, is bringing a carload of participants to the city and a large group is coming to Nekeosa and vicinity. Prizes will be minnow buckets and the high gun will receive a special ten-quart minnow bucket. The meet is open to all amateur and Amateur Trapshooting association rules will govern the entire shoot. Lunch and refreshments are served at the grounds.

CRACK OHIO STATE HURLER IS INJURED

Columbus, O.—Struck on his throwing arm by a batted ball in practice, Russ Miller, captain and stellar hurler of the Ohio State university's baseball team, probably will not be able to take part with Michigan Friday and Saturday.

Miller's disability may prove a serious blow to Ohio State, as it must win both games from the Wolverines to take the western conference championship from Indiana.

WALKER WILL PULL RARE ONE BY BEATING GREB

Many experts are picking Mickey Walker to whip Harry Greb in their forthcoming bout. If Walker can turn the trick he will rank with the unique in the fight game, as few pugilists have held two titles at the same time.

APPLETON SQUAD MEETS MANAWA AT VOLLEYBALL

Twelve Appleton business men were to leave the Y. M. C. A. at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon for Manawa where they were to meet the strong business men's volleyball teams of that city in a series of net matches in the evening. The local men were to be entertained at a supper and reception at 6 o'clock and the matches were to be played soon after. Two full teams will make the trip. Members of the first team probably will be chosen from the local "Y" squad, winner of second place in the 1925 state tournament. Members of this group are F. C. Reuter, James Murray, Fred Schmitt, Alfred Bradford, Guy Barlow, A. C. Remley, John Neller and Fred Agrell. A. P. Jensen, physical director of the local "Y," will accompany the team.

50 ENROLLED IN SWIM CLASSES AT LOCAL "Y"

With 50 men and boys enrolled in the classes, the Learn To Swim campaign sponsored by Appleton Y. M. C. A. is proceeding rapidly. Most of the swimmers have already learned the preliminary work and are hard at work on the strokes under the direction of A. P. Jensen and Don Gebhardt, physical directors. The campaign started Monday and ends Saturday, June 20. Four classes, two for men and two for boys, as well as a class in life-saving for advanced swimmers run every day of the two weeks course except Saturday and Sunday.

1925 Knox College Track Team Breaks Eight Marks

Galesburg, Ill.—Eight new records is the achievement made by Coach Earl R. Jackson's Knox College 1925 track team, a review of the season shows.

William Senn of Macomb, football ace, leads the list with two sensational records, 9.9 seconds in the 100-yard dash and 21.5 seconds in the 220-yard dash. Lloyd Poole of Avon, a consistent six foot high jumper, set the record at 6 foot 1 inch. John Heath of Champaign, broke the old record in the javelin by over twenty feet when he threw the spear 134 feet 3 inches in the Midwest Conference meet. Charles Kelwin surpassed the old record with a mark of 123 feet 5 inches and Clyde Hamilton ran the mile on a slow track in 4 minutes 27.3 seconds.

With a substitute runner in the 880-yard relay, Senn, Huggins, Johnson, and Captain Tarry created a new record of 1 minute 22.4 seconds. A team, composed of Senn, Schraub, Tarry, and Huggins lowered the old mile record of 3 minutes and 24.4 seconds to 3 minutes 21.2 seconds. At Drake they were clocked in 3 minutes 22.1 seconds by the track officials but are not credited with this record because they did not win. The winners mark surpassed the time of the Big Ten teams.

The team failed by two points to win the Illinois State Meet and placed third in the Midwest. However, a greater number of high class performers were developed than in any

ILLNESS HURTS TWO CREWS AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Wisconsin Loses Coxwain Coulter for Several Days With Minor Injury

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—With the annual intercollegiate regatta only ten days off, the illness of two men is likely to affect the boatings in their respective shells. The stricken athletes were Joseph Mallory of Pennsylvania and Coxwain Coulter of Wisconsin.

Mallory, who has rowed number four in the victorious shell was seized with an epileptic fit Thursday. He was rushed to Vassar hospital here from his highland quarters and his parents were wired to come to Poughkeepsie.

Coulter, temporarily incapacitated by a minor physical ailment, has been unable to take his place in Wisconsin boat for several days, but hope was held Friday that he would be ready to resume his place shortly. With the Syracuse crews at their quarters Thursday the oarsmen of two more colleges are still awaited for the completion of the navies which will dip their blades into the Hudson on June 22 in the annual tests of freshmen, junior varsity and varsity boats. The missing colleges are Cornell and Navy, the former of which is due here Sunday.

TUNNEY HAS MANY OFFERS OF BOUTS

Victory Over Gibbons Increases Gene's Popularity; Wanted for Big July 4 Go

New York—Gene Tunney now is one of the most sought after boxers in the ring. Since his victory over Tom Gibbons, the Greenwich Village lad has been literally flooded with offers for future matches.

These offers are submitted over the telephone to the office and home of Manager Billy Gibson, and by mail and telegraph. But to none of the numerous offers he has received since Tunney battered Gibbons down in twelve rounds, has Gibson given a definite answer.

Tunney left the city Tuesday for Tom Luther's resort at Saratoga Lake, there to resume training for an intensive campaign Gibson plans for the conqueror of Gibbons. At the end of this proposed campaign, Gibson hopes is the pugilistic pot of gold—a match for Tunney against Champion Jack Dempsey.

WHITE SOX INFILDER IS DANGEROUSLY ILL

Harvey McClellan utility infielder of the White Sox is dangerously ill at a hospital in Chicago where he underwent an operation for gall stones. The attending physician said he hoped for favorable developments within the next 24 hours. A year ago Little Mac was operated on for ulcers of the stomach and was out of the game the entire season.

City Horseshoe Hurling Title Decided Saturday

With a number of entries already in and many more expected, the 1925 city championship horseshoe pitching tournament, sponsored by Appleton Y. M. C. A., is well underway. The meet will be started Saturday on the local "Y" courts, weather permitting, and will run until the city champion is picked. From the meet a league may be formed among local hurlers and intercity matches may be carried if enough interest is shown. The tourney will start at 2:30 p. m.

Anyone in the city who likes to hurl the heavy shoe is eligible for the meet, according to A. E. Jensen, physical director of the "Y." The tourney is known as a "singles" elimination tournament, which means one man is matched against another, with winners rematched until only the champion is left. A game consists of 50 points and the man reaching this mark first wins his game. Anyone unable to get his entry in may make it a half-hour before the meet starts but this is the deadline.

BEYER CREW PLAYS AT LITTLE CHUTE

Appleton Team Hits Crack American Legion Squad Headed by Marty Lamers

Beyer Sentinels, Appleton's leading independent ball crew, will hit real competition on Sunday when they bump against Marty Lamers' Little Chute American Legion team at the Little Chute field. Marty, himself, crack infielder on State and Fox River Valley League teams for years, will appear in the game as well as Small, crack first baseman. Vandenheuvel, star Combined Locks twirler, is on the enemy staff and probably will take the mound against the local crew. Several other stars of Little Chute and vicinity will see action against the Beyer crew.

NESBIT TO LEAD 1926 BELOIT TRACK SQUAD

Beloit—Beloit's star sprinter, Paul Nesbitt, Savanna, Ill., was re-elected to the captaincy of the Beloit college track team by nine letter men here Wednesday. Nesbitt defeated Perry Magill, Elkhorn, Wis., holder of the midwest conference record in the high jump for the honor. Nesbitt has been undefeated this season. He has dropped but two races in two years, both to Clayton Addie, Oak Park last season. In the century he holds the midwest conference marks in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes and jointly holds the state mark in the century.

BURNS OF CLEVELAND STILL HITTING WELL

ROTARY LOSES SWELL CHANCE TO WIN GAME

Rain Halts Rotary-Legion Tilt With 4 Members of Crack Soldier Infield Out

Legion 5 0 1.000
Rotary 1 1 .500
Lions 2 2 .500
Kiwanis 0 5 .000

Rain, which fell all Thursday afternoon, probably saved the Legion team of the Lark League from its first defeat of the season and the Legionaires are rejoicing in having such a good friend in old Jupe Pluvius—they'll probably send him a box of Starnard's favorite cigars. The reason for the big rejoicing is that the league leaders were scheduled to mix with the strengthened Rotarian second-place crew with four members of their crack "$1,000,000" infield out of the game, giving the Rotarians an opportunity that no other Lark loop team had had this year.

Reports from Legion headquarters showed that four heavy sluggers, C. Baetz, catcher, Elmer Schabo, third baseman, Beyer, second baseman, and Manager Eddie Starnard, crack shortstop, would have been out of the game. This would leave only Hart, Zell, at first base, and E. Bates at the other shortstop position, out of an infield that was the boast of the city.

As the work this infield crew won most of the Legion's games to date by real fielding, Rotarians are cursing the rain today. Three of the men were unable to be present and Starnard was slightly under the weather.

Next week's games again brings the strongest competition on the card, with the crack Kiwanis meeting the rebuilt Rotarians on Tuesday and the old and worst rivals in this year's circuit the Lions and Legion, meeting on Thursday. The Lions nearly trimmed the Soldiers last time around and are ready to do the thing up brown this time, they say. They are greatly strengthened in slugging by the addition of Guy Barlow, assistant high school coach, who was one of the premier sluggers of the 1924 Lark League.

Baseball Simplified

By Billy Evans

If a pitched ball strikes about a foot in front of the plate and then bounds directly over the heart of the plate, considerably above the knee, is it a strike or a ball?

If the ball, after striking the ground in front of the plate was so deflected that it struck the batsman, would he be entitled to first base or would it merely be called a ball.

When a pitched ball strikes the ground in front of the home plate it loses any chance of being called a strike, unless the batsman should elect to swing at it and either miss or foul it off.

The fact that such a pitched ball bounded directly over the plate, a considerable distance above the batsman's knees, can be given no consideration. It instantly loses all chance of being ruled a called strike when it struck the ground.

However, if such a pitched ball struck the ground in front of the plate, and then was so deflected that it came into contact with the person of the batsman, that player was entitled to first base.

While technically it is a ball when it strikes the ground, the completion of the pitch doesn't actually occur until the ball has passed the batsman.

Therefore, if the batsman is hit by such a badly pitched ball, he is entitled to first base, as on any other pitched ball which comes into contact with the person of the batter.

Old-Timers Lead Major Teams To Victories In Thursday's Ball Games

Three Player-managers Star in Wins for Their Crews in American League Race

By Associated Press
New York—The twinkle of young baseball luminaries, from the minors has brightened the play in the major leagues this year, but veteran stars are still shining. Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Eddie Collins, Zach Lutz, Wheat, Jacques Fournier and Ken Williams, each hit hard and timely Thursday for victories.

Babe Ruth, with his first homer of the season, matched a similar clout by Speaker in the New York-Cleveland game, but Babe's swat was after the game had been sewed up by Tris. Two runners were aboard the bases when Tris banged the ball into the stand, and the three runs gave Cleveland a victory by 4 to 1.

Williams, in addition to Ty Cobb, Meusel of the Yankees for home run hitting honors by pasting his fifteenth fourbagger of the season, defeated the Red Sox almost single-handed for the Browns, 9 to 7. In addition to the homer, he made a double and two singles in five times at bat.

Wheat and Fournier saved the Robins from a shutout in their series with the Cardinals by lusty clouting in the seventh inning. With a triple and two doubles, Ty Cobb led Detroit on a lusting rampage before which the champion Senators went down to defeat, 7 to 4. Walter Johnson being driven from the mound.

The Mackmen were tripped by Chicago 6 to 5. The Sox knocked Eddie Rummel out of the box with a five-run rally in the third.

BUTTE DES MORTS CLUB HOLDS 1ST MATCH MEET

A real tournament is in store for members of the Butte des Morts Golf club on Saturday when match play against par will rule the links. All the players will be handicapped, the handicaps to apply in the day's play. Many prizes will go to the winners and a large entry list is expected. In the last two blind bogey meets all of the participants played good golf and made both big successes. Last Saturday's meet showed an entry list of 40. Every effort is being made to make this Saturday's meet the best of the season.

An interclub match with the River-View club is on the Butte des Morts schedule for a week from Saturday. All members wishing to participate in this meet have been requested to notify H. H. Polkey, club secretary, at once.

JOHNSON STARS AT BAT AS WELL AS ON MOUND

New York—Walter Johnson, besides hurling stellar ball, has been thus far this season.

In the first 14 games he played the Washington star punched out 17 safeties, one being good for a home run. Johnson has won several games by his ability to hit.

In a game at Cleveland a while ago, he was sent to bat in a pinch in the ninth inning with his team one run behind, one man on base and two out. Walker promptly laced the ball over the right fence, winning the game.

While Johnson has always rated a pretty good clubber, he appears better than ever this season.

BEYER CREW MET WEAK LINEUP AT WAUPACA

Only four regular players were in the ranks of the Waupaca city team when it lost to the strong Beyer Sentinels last Sunday, according to reports from fans in that city. Despite this weakened lineup the Waupaca crew outlived the locals 5 to 3, but lost a rough 4 to 0 game.

Shambeau at second base, the only regular slugger in the home crew lineup got 3 hits, as many as the entire Appleton squad, and Waupaca is supposed to have three other men with better batting averages than he. Waupaca fans believe that with the regulars in the lineup a different story might have been told and are anxious to watch another game between the teams.

Several local amateurs who had been asking for a trial were tried out in the Appleton game, according to Waupaca reports.

It's Smooth Sailing When You Read The Business Log

At the end of every hour in the day and night the quartermaster on watch aboard U. S. Navy ships makes the necessary markings in the log.

In the log—or record book—he keeps hourly tab on the barometer's rise or fall, the direction of the wind and other weather conditions.

Here in Appleton it is not necessary for you to keep a log of the buying and selling opportunities. The classified ads in the Post-Crescent do it for you.

They will readily tell you of the chances to save and make money that are appearing every day. They will tell you where to turn to find opportunities of all sorts.

Lions Club Gives Luncheon in Honor of Those Naturalized at Court

Twenty-seven of the twenty-eight applications for citizenship had their pleas granted at the naturalization hearing before Judge Oscar M. Fritz of Milwaukee, in circuit court Thursday morning. Judge Fritz took the place of Judge Edgar W. Werner, who was holding court in Milwaukee. He held court at Shawano on naturalization Wednesday and at Antigo on Friday.

The hearings in this district were held on three consecutive days at the three cities. George N. Danielson, United States naturalization examiner, had charge of the proceedings and the Womens Relief corps presented flags to the new citizens. Manuals on the United States government were presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution. At Shawano on Wednesday 16 were admitted to citizenship and were continued to study up on the national government and do more in the educational line.

The following were admitted to citizenship:

On the motion of George N. Danielson, United States naturalization attorney, the petition of Louis William Rietveld of Kimberly, a subject of the Netherlands, was dismissed by the court as the subject had failed to appear for the hearing and had not attended night school to prepare himself for citizenship.

Members of the citizenship class were guests of the Lions club at a luncheon at 1 o'clock Thursday at Conway hotel. The address of welcome was given by George N. Danielson, naturalization examiner, and F. N. Belanger, president of the Lions club also greeted the visitors. Herb Heilig of the vocational school, Attorney Edwin S. Godfrey, instructor of the citizenship class at the vocational school, also spoke. Response was given by one of the members of the class.

SCOTCH CANDY TROUPE ENTERTAINS ON STREET

Highland fling dances, accompanied by the strains of a Scotch bagpipe played by a genuine Scotchman have been a novel stunt occurring on the streets of Appleton during the past two days as a means of advertising candy. Royale Hammett, a former Appleton resident, is a member of this company which is touring through the United States in an automobile truck owned by a large candy concern.

Other members of the group are David G. Carrie who plays the bagpipes in a masterful Scotch fashion, Miss Frances Quinn, who dances to the bagpipe music, and Miss Clara Reihnen. All are attired in native Scotch kilt costumes. The particular garb they wear is known as the black watch uniform. The truck has an elaborate body painted gold and red on the outside. Quantities of samples of candy are carried in the truck and distributed to spectators of the entertainment.

What Do You Know About Salads and Salad Making?

Canned foods lend themselves to successful salad making, that every housekeeper should endeavor to have in reserve a small stock of the fish, fruits and vegetables which are most popular for this form of cookery, for the emergencies which arise in even the most perfectly managed households.

With a bottle or two of prepared salad dressing in addition she may in the twinkling of an eye add a salad course to her menu and such a salad course, too, as would not be possible were she to rely solely on the green goods available in the market.

But to do this she will need the recipe booklet on canned foods which this bureau has for free distribution. This booklet tells how to prepare 25 salads and 10 different salad dressings.

It is yours for the asking. Just enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

COUPLE GOES AROUND WORLD USING AUTO

Touring around the world in a car is the project which two travelers, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nelson, who stopped off at Hotel Appleton, are undertaking. These two pilgrims attracted a crowd of spectators to the hotel, but little was learned about them as they signed the hotel register as world travelers. It is not known whether they have any definite place they call home. Mr. Nelson looked like an American, but his wife had a

Traction Company Line Extensions Will Include Freedom and Oneida

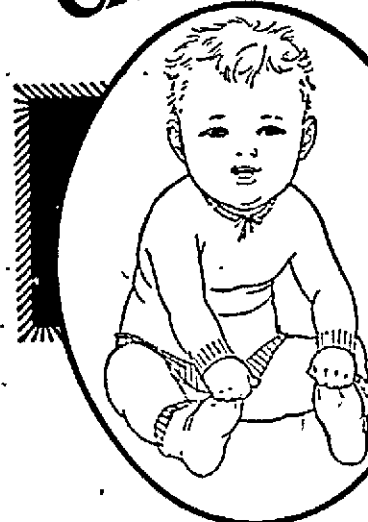

Freedom and Oneida will be added to the list of communities supplied with electric current from the power house of Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. as soon as the line now under construction is completed.

Poles for three miles of line already have been erected on the new line from highway 47, and a crew of from 25 to 30 men is making rapid progress on the remaining distance. At the present rate of construction Freedom village will be reached in less than a week, and from there the line will be extended to Oneida.

Nearly 100 farmers along the line will be able to draw current after completion of the work, in addition to the inhabitants of the two communities.
